A letter is held for postage at Buffalo, addressed to Charles N. Priest, Pithole City.

The Erie Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church meets at Franklin September 30th.

A Southern paper advises Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe to go to the "Erring Woman's Home" in Chicago.

Vanderbilt is mortified at the alliance of the Erie and Lake Shore roads, which was perfected while he was off getting married.

Robert Sellers of Franklin, fell dead while in the act of dressing himself on Monday morning last. He was eighty-five years of age.

A petroleum company in Louisiana has struck sulphur. Wonder how many petroleum seekers in this section will eventually do the same thing.

A new issue of postage stamps bearing the familiar faces of Washington, Jackson, Franklin and Lincoln, are ordered to supersede the late designs.

The mare Flora Temple, formerly Queen of the Turf, is still hale and hearty, notwithstanding she has reached the advanced age of thirty-three years.

Peaches may be relieved from their coats in a way superior to the use of the knife, by dropping them into weak hot lye. This process will greatly facilitate the operation of preserving this delicious fruit.

The Directors of the Oil Creek and Allegheny River railroad have declared their usual quarterly dividend of two and one-half per cent, payable October 1. The earnings of the road for the quarter ending August 31 are $550,000.

Brief, saucy and very Western is the following marriage announcement in a Chicago paper: "Pride, Stillman—Galena, July 8th. No cards. Presents, $5,000. Special train. Letters from Grant, Sherman and Sheridan."

There will be preaching at the Methodist Church this evening, commencing at eight o'clock.

ACCIDENTS.—The wife and daughter of John Purcell, who were severely burned while lighting a fire with kerosene oil at Titusville, on Wednesday last, both died yesterday from their injuries. Another accident is reported as occurring yesterday morning to a man named Newton, an engineer on the Barnes & Breton well, Cadwaller Tract, Church Run. He was washing the boiler with benzine, when it took fire and exploded, enveloping him in fire. Newton was badly burned, and the engine house was destroyed.

A LOCK-UP.—We are pleased to know that a subscription is in circulation in this place to raise means for the purpose of building a lock-up, an institution much needed in any community, and particularly in Petroleum Centre. Much of the noise which is occasionally heard on our streets in the night, and oftentimes during the day, caused by weak minded and degraded people who have an overplus of "benzine" aboard, would in a great measure be silenced, did they know that a "cooler" was erected especially for them by the thoughtful people of the place. We hope our citizens will subscribe liberally to the fund, that the building may be put under way at once. We noticed a woman yesterday, a disgrace to the name—making the air hideous with her idiotic tongue, poisoned with the worst of whisky, who should have found—if not a final resting-place—an abode "where the wicked cease from troubling," to remain until reason is restored. Our officers will see to it that all such are placed in cells, if our citizens will furnish the required establishment.

FIRE.—A fire broke out this afternoon in the refinery of Baker & Moore, located in the rear of George K. Anderson's house. They were running off tar into the bucket, when the fire in the furnace ignited with that vessel, causing the cap of the bucket to blow off, and setting fire to the still house, which was entirely destroyed. No further damage was done.

DIDN'T DO IT.—Considerable amusement was furnished a small crowd of spectators this morning on the shores of Oil Creek, up street, by the actions of a man known as "Dutch Henry," who contemplated suicide, and plunged into the creek, "ca-chug"—probably more to amuse his audience than from serious contemplations. He had "suicide on the brain," as everybody has been talking it since Thursday. As he floated he swam, and upon being admonished that it was contrary to the rules of suicide, he made the reply "It ish cold." The cold water sobered him up, and he who was drunk Henry but a moment before, came to the shore a shivering, sober man. He was immediately ous ca spicled.

The Oil City and Petroleum Bridge Company declared a semi-annual dividend of 8 per cent recently on their bridge stock, and in addition to this had purchased plank to entirely relay the roadway, which has since been done. The business is constantly on the increase. We are glad to see the enterprise making such good returns. It is a great benefit and convenience to the place.

A hat and cap manufacturer in New London, Conn., has discovered a new way of advertising. He makes his three sons go bareheaded winter and summer. Benevolent people buy caps for them, and they throw their custom into their father's hands. The self-same caps are purchased for them six times a week on an average.

A Western town has a new society, formed by the young ladies, the object being to redeem young men whose habits do not suit them. They pledge themselves not to receive the attentions of any young man that sweats, smokes, chews, loafs on the street corners, or drinks. The amount of "sitting up with the girls" done in that region since the society went into operation is "nothing worth speaking of." An agitation in favor of "suspending the rules" for two evenings a week is expected.

THE BYRON STORY.—The excitement in regard to the article written by Mrs. Stowe on the subject of Lord Byron has not abated. The newspapers still teem with correspondence. A letter in the London News says: In no instance in history has any one told a most unpalatable truth and repented of his handiwork when the first flush of indignation has subsided. We thank the author and publishers for telling the truth. Mrs. Stowe unveiled a secret formerly carefully guarded by a few, and restored virtue and vice to their proper places. In future it will be remembered that, by her courage there is one less imposture in the world.

A BANK NOTE SWINDLE.—A gang of swindlers are making money by mutilating bank bills by the following process: The dodge consists of making ten bills out of nine, and is so managed that there is but one pasting to each of the manufactured notes. The nine whole bills are taken, and from the right of the first one-tenth is sliced off; from the right of the second two tenths; from the right of the third three tenths; and so on to number nine, from which nine-tenths are taken from the right, or, what amounts to the same thing, one-tenth from the left. Number one is passed as it is, with a tenth gone from the right; the one-tenth taken from number one is pasted to the residue of number two, from which two-tenths had been taken; these two-tenths are made to answer the place of the three-tenths taken from number three, and so on through. Thus, nine five dollar notes are completed, leaving the original number nine, with a tenth gone from the left, as a tenth note. It will be seen that but a tenth gone from each bill, and on a different place on every one, and a little ingenious pasting makes the loss imperceptible to ordinary observers. It is certain that large numbers of these mutilated bills have been circulated, and our readers will do well to look out for them.

We see it stated that a "class in journalism" is to be introduced into Washington College, Virginia. The idea is to educate young men for the editorial profession—which will prove one of the largest of the many bumbags with which collegiate life is being "doctored" these days. The only graduating class for a journalist is a newspaper office, and whatever of perfectibility is attainable must come through hard work and dear experience. James Gordon Bennett, Horace Greeley, Robert Bonner, and a dozen others will tell you that. A college may turn out a herd of essayists every year, but there won't be a single journalist among them. And who is to be the Professor of Journalism? Here is one great difficulty. Nobody but a first-class journalist would be competent, and we doubt if a first-class journalist could be persuaded into the business of pedagoguing. It is sheer nonsense. If a man wants to be a journalist, let him serve ten years in the office of a first-class newspaper like the Enquirer. At the end of his term he will be an editor—or dead.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Lammers & Alden have a new stock of all late styles of Hats and Caps.

The Philadelphia Criminal Court has in its hands a notorious character named Jimmy Haggerty, charged with murder, whom they are unable to try on account of the Commonwealth's witnesses being spirited away. Four terms have passed, and his counsel on Saturday moved for his discharge from prison, when his case assumed a new phase, and this time one which involves a law point of much importance. It appears that some years ago he was granted a conditional pardon by Governor Curtin. The condition was that he should leave the country, which he did not do. The District Attorney now asks that he be remanded to prison to serve out the unexpired term of his sentence, on the ground that his conduct has worked a revocation of the pardon. Per contra, it is contended that a pardon with such conditions is a pardon in full, for the Governor has no right to append conditions.

DEATH IN THE MINE.—The terrible colliery catastrophe at Plymouth, Pa., details of which are sending thrills of horror through the country, is by far the most appalling of the kind that has ever occurred in America, and almost equals the frightful disaster in Saxony. Whether it was due to a preventable cause, and may be charged, as so many of the accidents in mining are, to a want of precaution on the part of those whose familiarity with the ever haunting dangers of life in a colliery produces a forgetful carelessness, does not yet appear.

The scene of the catastrophe is a station on the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg railway, twenty miles southwest of Scranton, and some six miles from Wilkesbarre. It is situated on the western bank of the Susquehanna river. The town is in the heart of the Wyoming Valley, and is one of the great coal mining depots. It has now an awful episode in its history to make the town noteworthy and memorable.

Gen. Rawlins leaves three children, an infant born last week, and two daughters, ten and twelve years old, by a former marriage. Mrs. Rawlins is a native of Danbury, Conn., where she now is. She was unable by reason of sickness to attend his last hours.

From CHASE & BROS., Cochran's Landing, Ohio, Nov. 20, 1856.—We are pleased with your medicine. It has been the means of curing a great number of different diseases upon persons, as also upon horses. We think it cures all you recommend it to do. We want you to send us the larger proportion of the variety for "Family Use," in small bottles.

From DR. G. B. NEAL, Harris, Iowa, Dec. 20, 1857.—I have practiced medicine in this county seven years and cheerfully recommend your Gargling Oil as the best liniment in use.

HOFF, dated Palsburg, Ohio, July 17, 1866.—In June last, Henry Shaffle had a yearling colt that had what was supposed to be Diphtheria for more than ten days, so that it could not eat, and the throat swollen almost shut, and the use of three or four applications of the dollar bottles did the desired effect.

From A. G. NIEL, Lewisville, Cochocton Co., O., March, 1852.—I have used your Gargling Oil for the Scorches on my horse, and it cured it with the first application.

From ENOS MATHER, Middleport, N. Y., July 29, 1850.—I purchased a bottle of your Gargling Oil of your agent, A. S. Baker, at Middleport, and as yet have used but half of it.
